Ralph Bunche

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — One of the leading U.N. figures, Ralph J. Bunche, has been forced by failing health to retire after a quarter-century of troubleshooting for the world organization.

Actually he was placed on retired status last June when he was in critical condition, but the announcement came only Friday after word of the retirement leaked out.

Secretary-General U Thant said he would be most happy to see Bunche back for the remainder of his term, ending March 31, 1972, but those closest to Bunche do not expect his return.

He has been in poor health for some years, suffering from kidney malfunction, diabetes, heart disease and serious impairment of his eyesight.

Bunche was undersecretary for political affairs and was regarded as the top American in the U.N. secretariat. At 67 he already had served far beyond the organization's mandatory retirement age of 60.

The U.N. announcement that he had been placed on "retired status" said the action had been taken on medical advice and "for administrative reasons and in his own interest only."

Informed sources said this was a reference to a substantial difference in payments that his family would have received had he died while on active duty rather than on retirement. In the United Nations, retirement carries with it a cash lump sum payment as well as a pension.

Bunche played an active role in almost every world crisis from the time he joined the secretariat in 1946. He is considered the top U.N. authority on the Middle East. He was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1950 for his role in achieving the 1949 armistice between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

School Lunches

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted 75 to 5 Friday to direct the Nixon administration to increase federal payments to the states for free and reduced-price school lunches for needy youngsters.

It sent on to the House a resolution that would in effect increase the federal payment per lunch from 35 cents to 46 cents. Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., said it would relieve "chaos, consternation and confusion in school lunch programs across the country."

Some senior members of the Appropriations Committee challenged the method being used to provide the extra funds, saying they were planning a supplemental money bill in a few weeks to take care of the situation.

But Talmadge, chairman of the Agriculture Committee and sponsor of the resolution, stressed the need to act now before the school year is too far advanced.

"When you're hungry, you're hungry," said Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash. "You can't wait until some bureaucrat sends letters back and forth."

Talmadge said the resolution was needed because August regulations set by the Department of Agriculture for the school lunch program, aimed at meeting the requirement that every needy child be fed, were completely inadequate.

The August regulations fixed the federal reimbursement rate to the states at 35 cents per meal, which the administration said was the maximum possible under the $615 million voted by Congress for the present school year.

Gold Standard

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the world's finance ministers succeed in replacing gold as the cornerstone of the international monetary system, the English language may never recover.

The ministers, who met here are talking of supplanting gold with Special Drawing Rights, or SDR, an artificial asset that amounts to nothing more than a bookkeeping entry.

Exactly what impact this would have on the monetary markets is a matter of considerable debate, but there's no question that switching from gold as the standard measure of worth would have an enormous influence on the language.

Can't you hear Bing Crosby crooning it now? "When the blue of the night meets the SDR of the day . . ."

Or "silver threads among the SDR . . ."

"Silence is SDRen" somehow just doesn't have the ring. And what would you say of a bright young man on his way up? "Everything he touches turns to SDR?"

Teachers would be telling the story of SDRlocks and the three bears.

James Bond would be trying to catch SDRfinger.

Benefactors worth their weight in SDR naturally would have hearts as pure as, in case you've forgotten, "Special Drawing Rights."

45,000 More Walk Out Dock Strike Spreads East

NEW YORK (AP) — An estimated 45,000 East and Gulf coast longshoremen struck Friday, and dockers on the West coast pressed a separate walk-out into its fourth month, their pickets in a headlike arch along the nation's thousands of miles of Atlantic and Pacific shoreline.

It was the first time both coasts had been struck simultaneously. The contract disputes of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association in the East, and the independent Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union in the West were not related.

The only major rift in a strike front that stretched from Seattle to San Diego to Beaumont, Tex., and Portland, Maine, was reported from Texas, where ILA members worked as usual at Houston, Galveston, Corpus Christi and Brownsville.

President Nixon withheld any immediate Taft-Hartly action, although he was on record as prepared to invoke an 80-day cooling off period rather than allow a protracted strike on both coasts to virtually paralyze the deep sea shipping industry.

At the Key Biscayne, Fla., White House, where Nixon was beginning a long weekend, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the president was in touch by phone with Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson.

However, Nixon was said to be hopeful that the three-month West Coast dock strike would be settled by Saturday night, a deadline he himself had urged upon negotiators. Thus, he was depicted as unwilling to interfere by means of the Taft-Hartley law at this stage.

The issues affecting the 15,000 West Coast strikers were off-dock container jurisdiction, a guaranteed work week, and wages and benefits.

The East and Gulf coast tieup involved a provision in the New York contract guaranteeing 40 hours a week pay throughout the year, regardless of whether there was that much work available. It originally was adopted as hedge against the increasing automation of the New York waterfront.

The shipping firms sought to revise the formula, claiming abuses were costing the industry $30 million a year. The ILA balked at scrapping the clause.

Immediate effects of the ILA strike was a halt to grain and coal exports, and the importing of foreign automobiles.

Cruise liners coming into New York were unloaded at the piers by supervisory employees, after which passengers were forced to lug their own baggage to cabs and cars.

However, the impact on the economy was eased by the foresight of importers who had been stockpiling goods for months in anticipation of the strike—the ninth in a series which has marked every ILA contract expiration since World War II. The latest contract ran out at midnight Thursday.

Meantime, about 13,000 railroad signalmen worked past expiration of a 4½-month government ban on their strike against the nation's railroads. Talks continued in Washington and a renewal of the walkout that idled 500,000 railroaders last May seemed unlikely.

Neither the coal nor dock strike posed an immediate emergency.

Steel mills and electric generating plants, the big users of coal, reported enough on hand barring a long strike. There has been a slump in the steel business, anyway.

Coal Industry Hit By Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — A strike by some 80,000 miners virtually shut down the nation's production of soft coal Friday, but contract negotiations continued and the Nixon administration expressed hope for an early settlement.

The Bituminous Coal Operators Association said the wage-price freeze and uncertainty over future federal restraints had blocked agreement but President W.A. "Tony" Boyle of the United Mine Workers said a contract can and must be negotiated without further delay.

However, both sides announced in a joint statement at mid-day that negotiators were recessing to report to their respective members on the status of the talks and that "They will resume their deliberations early next week."

Boyle said the wage-price freeze had complicated the talks but was not in itself a significant stumbling block.

"The wage-price freeze is no excuse for procrastination and we have no intention of permitting it to become such an excuse," he said.

Bituminous coal is mined in more than 20 states, most of it in West Virginia and Pennsylvania. The United Mine Workers of America has been unable to reach agreement with the coal operators on wages, welfare contributions and other significant contract language," Boyle said.

The union refused an industry proposal to extend the contract that expired Thursday midnight.

The union is seeking to boost the current top wage of $37 per day to $50 and to at least double the current 40-cent per ton industry royalty payments to its Welfare and Retirement Fund which has operated some $66 million in the red the past two years. The fund still has an unspent balance of nearly $113 million.

New wages and benefits could in no event be placed into effect during the freeze," said an industry spokesman in unsuccessful urging day to day extension of the old contract. The Nixon administration has urged unions and companies to continue to seek contract settlements during the freeze for increases that could go into effect after the freeze expires Nov. 13 but subject to whatever new economic restraints the government may impose.

Police Clash With Viet Election Demonstrators

SAIGON (AP) — New clashes between police and antigovernment demonstrators broke out Friday evening in Saigon.

Police fired volleys of tear gas into the headquarters of the militant An Quang Buddhist sect after fire bombs were hurled into the street in front of the pagoda.

More than 200 members of the antigovernment People's Committee for Democracy and Peace, one of several groups opposing President Nguyen Van Thieu's uncontested candidacy for re-election, were attempting to hold a news conference at the pagoda.

Police had barricaded both ends of the street leading to the pagoda when several youths threw sawdust into the street and set it ablaze with fire bombs.

Combat police dispersed the group with tear gas, then moved up and fired several dozen tear gas cannisters directly into the pagoda. They also tore down banners urging a voter boycott of Sunday's presidential election.

Two youths were arrested. After the raid on the pagoda, trouble spread to nearby streets. A pickup truck owned by an American construction firm was fire-bombed. It was destroyed, but there were no injuries.

Small bands of youths and disabled veterans roamed an area of several square blocks, lighting bonfires in the streets and blocking traffic. Police dispersed them with tear gas.

Earlier Friday, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky addressed a People's Congress sponsored by another anti-Thieu coalition, the Committee against Dictatorship. He called for voters to boycott Sunday's election and repudiate its results.

While Ky spoke, antigovernment demonstrations broke out elsewhere in Saigon, in the old imperial capital of Hue and in the coastal port city of Qui Nhon.

Students threw fire bombs and set fires in the streets about a mile from the rally, but were dispersed by police and militia.

In Hue, about 300 university students and disabled veterans clashed with police for three hours. Fire bombs were thrown. Police dispersed the protesters with tear gas.

The Qui Nhon march was authorized and was orderly until the 250 veterans who paraded refused to disperse. Police again used tear gas.

IMF Breathes Life Into Plan For Worldwide Money Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — The International Monetary Fund closed its most crucial meeting in 27 years Friday by urging speedy realignment of money-exchange rates and breathing life into a plan for eventual worldwide monetary reform.

The fund's board of governors unanimously adopted a resolution calling on the 118 member nations to establish "as promptly as possible . . . a satisfactory structure of exchange rates . . . together with the reduction of restrictive trade and exchange practices."

The resolution directed the fund's executive committee to go to work promptly on studies of all aspects of the monetary system, including the role of gold and the new international reserve asset, Special Drawing

Rights or SDR.

Finance ministers of the major nations of the non-Communist world headed home to shape plans for forthcoming negotiations later this month on how to achieve currency realignment.

There was no indication whether they agreed with a new United States proposal to lift its 10 per cent import surcharge if they allowed their currencies to float freely in the marketplace against the dollar, a move that would achieve the upward revaluation of currencies the United States wants.

This was President Nixon's aim on Aug. 15 when he announced the United States would no longer redeem dollars for gold, thus removing the cornerstone of the international monetary system.

The United States has announced it wants a $13-billion turnaround in its big balance-of-payments deficit, putting it into surplus once again. Raising the value of other currencies in relation to the dollar would play a key role in accomplishing that goal.

The IMF was created at Bretton Woods, N.H., in 1944 to police the system of stable exchange rates of currencies.

Robert S. McNamara, president of the World Bank, said that any agreement on currency realignment by the large industrialized nations should take into account problems of developing nations.

He said there was a "clear consensus that the entire concept of development must be broadened."

Besieged Fire Base Relieved

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese paratroopers broke a North Vietnamese siege at an artillery base near the Cambodian border Friday and immediately joined the defenders in a sweep operation.

The siege was broken after the installation Fire Base Tran Hung Dao, had undergone five straight days of enemy shelling.

At the same time, another South Vietnamese relief column ran into strong resistance trying to reach a second beleaguered fire base across the border in eastern Cambodia.

At last report, the relief troops were still locked in fighting with enemy forces blocking the way to Fire Base Alpha, three miles east of the rubber plantation town of Krok.

The action at the two fire bases capped the sixth day of a North Vietnamese offensive along the Cambodian-Vietnamese frontier in a region 60 to 90 miles northwest of Saigon.

Both South Vietnamese field commanders and their top U.S. advisers said the situation appeared more favorable than in the preceding five days of North Vietnamese heavy rocket and mortar attacks.

"The situation is much better than before," Lt. Gen. Nguyen Xuan Thinh, commander of the operation, told AP correspondent George Esper at his headquarters at Tay Ninh.

"The enemy shelling now has become very weak. We are pursuing the enemy."

The senior American adviser to the South Vietnamese, Maj. Gen. Jack J. Wagstaff, said: "I'm very much encouraged, but we are not out of the woods yet."

Wagstaff emphasized, however, that the border situation was "not critical."

Allied commanders claimed that U.S. B52 bombers and smaller fighter-bombers wiped out a Big North Vietnamese supply base near the Cambodian frontier.

They said two days of air strikes destroyed large amounts of ammunition and other supplies and killed at least 100 enemy soldiers and probably more.

The North Vietnamese force arrayed in the border campaign includes elements of two divisions, the 5th and 7th. So far, however, allied intelligence officers have reported as actually committed to the fighting only one regiment of each division, probably around 3,000 men in all. They are backed up by two sapper battalions of about 300 trained demolition experts plus an undetermined number of antiaircraft and artillery units.

As against this, the South Vietnamese have committed 24 combat battalions—elements of three divisions—or up to 12,000 men plus artillery and other supporting units.

U.S. B52 bombers made nine strikes in Tay Ninh province near the Cambodian frontier.

The bombers unloaded nearly 300 tons of explosives on suspected North Vietnamese troop concentrations and bunkers two to three miles from the Cambodian frontier.

In the ground action, 1,200 South Vietnamese paratroopers moved in from the east along Highway 22 and linked up with the defenders of Fire Base Tran Hung Dao.

The paratroopers and some of the base force immediately embarked on a clearing sweep around the base, which had been under North Vietnamese artillery siege.

U.S. units meanwhile, evacuated artillery Fire Base Katum, four miles south of the Cambodian border in Tay Ninh province. The U.S. Command said it was a planned move and was not related to the current border operations.

Kitchens Passe In Future?

Along with the family itself, the traditional family meal may be heading for extinction.

According to Dr. George G. Graham, professor of human nutrition at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore, a complete meal may eventually consist simply of a "hand" food, such as a sandwich, that contains all the nutrients a person needs.

For example, a child could eat three vitamin-fortified peanut butter-and-jelly sandwiches a day, he says, and be just as well-nourished as he would be by eating the traditional balanced meals of meat, fish, eggs, dairy products, cereals, vegetables and fruits.

Such a change in eating habits would have profound social and economic consequences, says Graham.

Agriculture and the food industry would be drastically affected, of course. Housewives would be freed of the time they now spend preparing meals. Even the prices of housing would go down because there would be no need for kitchens and their many appliances.

All this is only theoretical. The catch is that man does not live by (or for) peanut butter-and-jelly sandwiches alone.

The healthy, normal person enjoys eating, and the greater the variety of foods, the greater the enjoyment. Many housewives, women's lib notwithstanding, take pride in their cooking skill. Many men, too.

The professor's vision of our gastronomic future is akin to predictions that someday all babies will be conceived by artificial insemination, thus eliminating the time-consuming, haphazard and inefficient method of the present day.

It's possible, but improbable. Somehow, it just wouldn't seem the same.

Picking Beans By The Book

As often happens, tidings from Iowa State University at Ames emphasize the fact that farming is no longer a simple matter. Agricultural experts have developed so many new techniques and resources, most of them bearing a pleasant aura of financial benefit, that the farmer has to study and hustle to keep up.

The tidings we have in mind concern soybean harvesting methods—ways to be more specific, of boosting the income from soybeans by six dollars or so per acre. On a big farm, that amounts to enough to buy a lot of chicken feed.

The advice from two Iowa State Extension specialists, Dale Hull and Vivian Jennings, is precise. When harvesting soybeans, they tell farmers, use a ground speed of 2.5 to 3.2 miles per hour. This cuts down on the stubble loss and shatter loss that come with higher speeds. Also, one must keep reel beat speed (whatever that is) 25 percent faster than ground travel, and "set reel axle 6 to 12 inches ahead of the cutter bar."

There's lots more. Item: running the reel too low will shatter beans; too high and it won't "properly throw beans into the cross feed auger." Item: "A dull cutter bar will strip bean pods off the stalks and produce ground losses." Item: using an automatic heading height control or a flexible cutter bar will boost the harvest two or three bushels per acre. And so on. These days, you don't just go out and pick beans; you pick 'em by the book — and make more money.

Despite Widely Publicized Demonstrations

Few Doubt Thieu Will Get Vote Of Confidence

By J. T. WOLKERSTORFER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Despite widely publicized demonstrations against President Nguyen Van Thieu and his unopposed campaign for re-election, few doubt that he will get the "vote of confidence" he seeks in Sunday's polling.

The opposition is the most cohesive and widespread of Thieu's political career but it lacks significant popular support. He has succeeded in either suppressing or ignoring his foes.

Thieu has said he will resign if he receives fewer than half the votes, and has implied he might step down if he does not win a larger majority. He predicted to aides and newsmen, however, that he might receive as much as 80 per cent of the vote, and this seems possible.

What would happen then is uncertain.

He has told newsmen he would resign rather than see U.S. aid to Vietnam cut off, and although the Nixon administration is committed to Thieu,

Congress is likely to take a hard look at continuing aid.

He has told the country's leading generals he will resign rather than have the nation torn by a coup—if they want another leader. He has said he expects to bring peace to the country within two years, and will resign once this task is accomplished.

This makes his continuance in office contingent on American aid and the armed forces' support, both unpredictable factors.

Thieu has made myriad enemies in attaining and maintaining power, and his unopposed campaign for re-election has brought them together in a loose coalition which may step up its activities after the election.

However, the opposition still represents only a tiny minority of the seven million voters and 18 million people and in Thieu it faces the most astute South Vietnamese politician since Ngo Dinh Diem.

During four years in office, he has weathered crisis after crisis, weeding out Ky supporters and suppressing such dissident groups as Buddhists, students, disabled veterans, and enemies in the National Assembly.

The people can vote against him, Thieu says, by casting an "irregular" ballot by tearing the ballot in half, defacing it, or putting an empty envelope in the box.

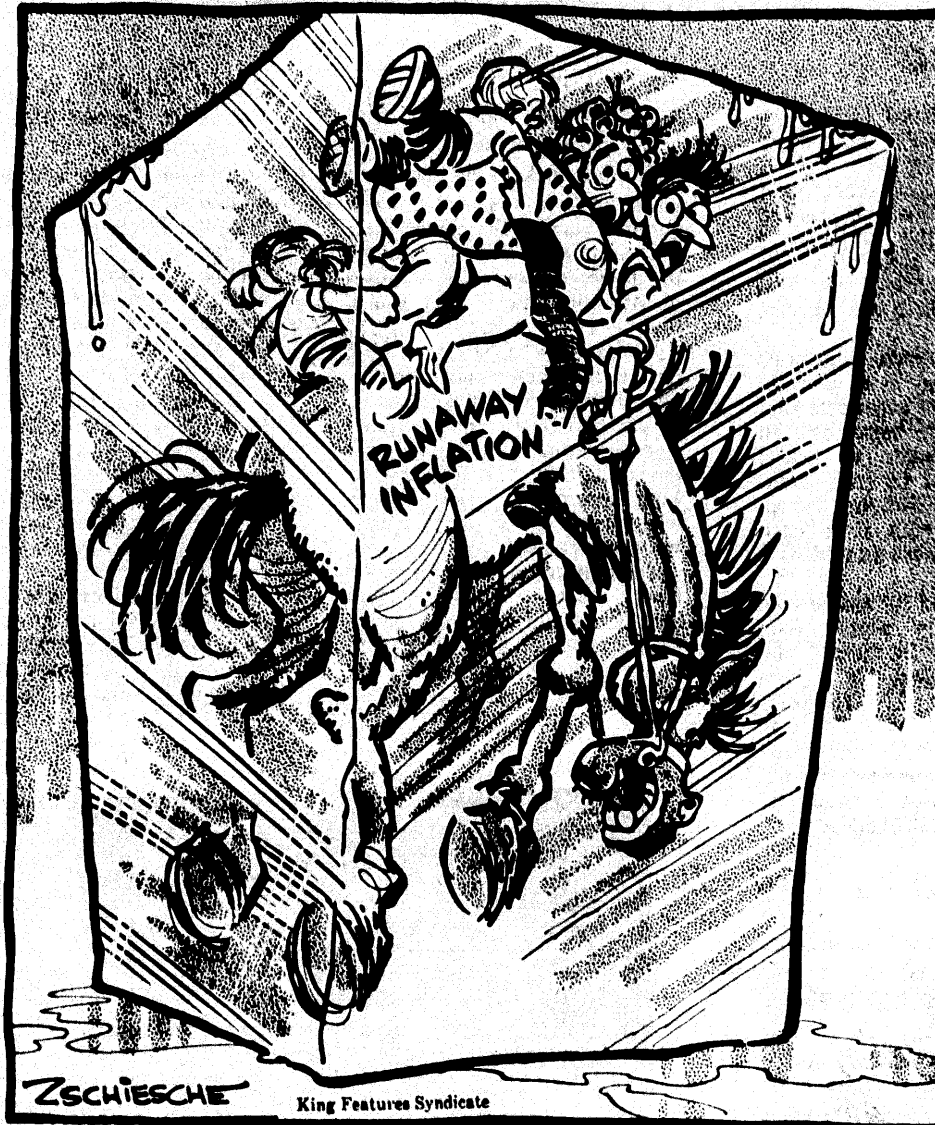

Thieu is almost certain to win a considerable majority in rural areas where people are less politically aware than in the cities, and where it is easier for Thieu-appointed officials to lead them to the polls. Most will go through the simple procedure of taking the Thieu ballot, putting it in an envelope, and dropping it in the box.

They will do so for three basic reasons. Voting for Thieu is the least complicated thing to do. They believe it is expected of them. And they know that local officials can make life difficult for them.

But with doubtful popular support, a nation tired of war, and a government and army dependent on U.S. aid, observers are asking how long Thieu can last.

No one is certain but it is not hard to find predictions he will resign within six months.

Frozen In His Tracks

Washington

Floating Dollar Softens U.S. Vice

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The magnitude of the changes certain to take place around the world as a result of President Nixon's floating of the dollar is still emerging.

The issue Nixon is forcing is not only reevaluation of the world's currencies. There are other likely results.

1—The principal industrial nations—notably West Germany and Japan—will take over a much greater share of aid for the developing nations and will play considerably greater role, physically and financially, in the military costs and responsibilities of policing the world.

When nations pay more of the bills, they demand a larger voice. That usually means a reevaluation of what's going on.

Nixon's actions thus may force a reorganization of NATO, SEATO and other regional alliances in which the United States has played a major role because it has been willing to pay most of the bills.

The day of unilateral U.S. decisions may be over. If Japan, for example, is to assume a major role in the defense of Asia and its economic development, then Japan will be deeply concerned over any U.S. actions which would direct that development along lines of which Japan does not approve or which might draw Japan against its will into a Vietnam-type war.

2—In bypassing the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade Organization, the United States and the International Monetary Fund, Nixon is in effect saying that in their present form these institutions have not performed as they must and must be reformed, replaced or become secondary to other organizations.

Certainly GATT and the IMF have not met the world-wide growing crisis of the past several years involving trade, military balance and economic development.

3—If the major exporting and importing nations are required to make major changes in their ways of doing business, they are going to demand that the United States adopt policies they want, aimed at their concept of what this country must do to get its house in order. We shall, to some extent, be in the position of a man supervised by his "creditors."

4—One other thing is clear in the maneuvering to date. All-nation conferences, such as GATT meetings, United Nations sessions and world monetary conferences are beginning to lose much of their meaning. The hard decisions must be made by a handful of major industrial nations if they are to be carried out. West Germany and Japan, for example, will not want to be bound in economic and trade policies by the wishes of some 100 countries, most of which have little economic influence.

To some extent a new oligarchy of major nations (including the United States, of course) will, in practice, take over more major decisions from the United States and the world and regional economic organizations through which Washington has operated.

What will count in this new lineup is not past prestige or past power but current economic strength.

This could mean new economic leverage for the Soviet Union if Moscow wishes to participate. It would certainly increase the influence of West Germany and Japan and likely lower the relative positions of France and Great Britain.

Ann Landers:

Mother Finds Idea Of Homosexual Son Difficult

Dear Ann Landers: You goofed—and I hope you'll be big enough to admit it. I refer to your shamefully inadequate response to the mother who signed herself "Ill in Illinois." I was ill in Indiana when I read it.

The mother was writing about her handsome, talented, 21-year-old, homosexual son. She wanted to know how she could help him lead a normal life. Your advice was for the MOTHER to get counseling and learn to live with the situation which you described as "probably irreversible." Your last line, that she was probably a lot unhappier than the boy, was strange, to put it mildly. How did you reach THAT conclusion? Did an assistant write that answer? It didn't sound like you, Ann Landers. Please review the letter and try it again.—Marion, Ind.

Dear Marion: You're right that I goofed, but the buck stops here. Every word that appears under my byline is written by me, and I'm responsible for it.

The advice you question was, I agree, inadequate. I have no defense but I do have an explanation. I sometimes must cut a letter in order to use it in the column. In this instance, I cut the letter so drastically that some vital facts were deleted. In the original letter, the mother described the boy's accomplishments. He was creative, outgoing, related well to members of both sexes, did beautifully in school and was headed for a promising career. He told his parents he was a homosexual and made it clear that he was perfectly content and did not want professional help. The mother, on the other hand, was so gripped by his deviation that she was becoming bedridden. I told her not to press therapy on a boy who didn't want it, but to get some therapy herself, so she could learn to accept him.

Dear Ann Landers: Our youngest daughter went steady for two years with a smart alec punk who didn't know enough to stand up when speaking to an adult. We never liked the boy and she knew it. To make a long story short, he got Neva pregnant and then tried to lie his way out of it.

I could fill your whole page with stories about what we went through with our daughter. To complicate matters Neva really did care about that creepy kid. We had a terrible time convincing her that she should not keep the baby. It tore my heart out to watch that girl sit by the phone, waiting for a call. And then when her father had to drive her to the hospital to have the baby, I thought to myself, what's the matter with the laws in this country? How come the boy who got her that way is nowhere around? Is it fair that a 16-year-old girl, who was a virgin when she met the dirty dog, has to carry the burden alone while he runs off with his buddies to ballgames and dates other girls?

Please, Ann Landers, do what you can to get a law passed saying the boy has to marry the girl when a pregnancy is involved. You would be performing a great service.—Wichita Heartache

Dear W.H.: A great service? For whom? Do you have any idea what the divorce rate in this country is among people who get married WILLINGLY? Why wish a bum like that on your daughter? She is far better off without him. Good riddance.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 2 — Born today, you are a hard worker and an efficient one — but you are somewhat inclined to underestimate your own ability to bring gainful ends to any project. You seem to think that without the help of others you are not yourself either intelligent enough or talented enough to succeed in any given enterprise. In this, however, you are quite wrong. It is entirely within the realm of possibility that your highest success will be the result of a solo operation. A love of adventure and a certain timidity toward it go hand in hand in your character. Although you may commit yourself one way or another to partake in a given adventure, when the time comes to act, actually to take part in it, you will often be found to have some excuse for bowing out. You may hate yourself for doing this — but, being both practical and realistic, you will do it all the same. Highly ambitious for success in your career, you are nevertheless not willing to sacrifice your own or anyone else's personal happiness in order to achieve that success. A stable marriage, confident children, steady and durable friendships: these mean more to you than any kind of material success ever could.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Sunday, October 3
LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Stick to usual routine. Morning worship should be especially helpful to the Libra with sinking spirits.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Not as tireless as you think, you must be on your guard against overdoing the physical this morning. Afternoon is for mental exercise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — You can do much to help yourself move quickly into the future. Know your motives, your limitations — and your first aim in life.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Seek spiritual guidance when it comes to making up your mind about a suggested change in vocation. Look ahead.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — There's no rush when it comes to decisions today. Don't allow others to push you into making judgments now.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21) — Domestic matters come in for their share of attention. Surprise in store for the Pisces who has turned over a new leaf.

ARIES (March 22-April 20) — Anything that occurs today must be taken seriously. To consider even a minor matter of no consequence would be to err.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — Nerves may get the best of you this morning but you can keep from blowing off steam at others if you keep busy. Attack a problem.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Call upon your ability to withstand the onslaught of adverse criticism. You may have to listen to harsh words this morning.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — In your efforts to tie up loose ends before the new workweek begins don't create new problems for yourself. Remain organized.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Think over once again the arguments you intend to use to make your point with the family. Don't allow fear to win the day.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Patience may at times vie with common sense. If it seems unreasonable to wait, then by all means move ahead.

Black Woman's Name Submitted For Court Post

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has recommended that President Nixon appoint a black woman attorney, Mrs. Jewel Lafontant of Chicago, to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Mrs. Lafontant, 49, was co-chairman and keynote speaker at a $100-a-plate testimonial dinner here for Ogilvie two weeks ago that was attended by 11,500 persons and raised $1 million in campaign funds for the GOP.

In a letter to Nixon, Ogilvie said the President's announcement that a woman would be considered for one of the openings on the nation's high court was "extremely pleasing to me and, I believe, of enormous social significance."

Mrs. Lafontant Surprised — "In view of your statement I submit the name of Mrs. H. Ernest (Jewel) Lafontant, a distinguished attorney and citizen," Ogilvie wrote.

Mrs. Lafontant said she was "surprised" by Ogilvie's letter and "very thankful he has such confidence in my ability."

She said appointment of a woman to the Supreme Court "is long overdue," but declined to say whether she would accept such an appointment or whether she holds the constructionist view of the Constitution that Nixon reportedly wants.

Successful Judge Candidate — Mrs. Lafontant is a member of the President's Council on Minority Business Enterprise, chairman of the Illinois Advisory Committee to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, and was appointed by Nixon to the U.S. Advisory Commission on International Educational and Cultural Affairs in 1969.

She was an unsuccessful GOP candidate for Illinois Appellate Court judge in 1970.

Mrs. Lafontant is in partnership with her husband in a Chicago law firm specializing in divorce cases. She was born in Chicago and graduated from Oberlin College in Ohio and the University of Chicago.

AIR BAGS COULD SAVE 1,000 LIVES DURING 1976

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council estimates that the recently adopted "air bag" safety device for American automobiles could save as many as 1,000 lives during 1976, the first full year they are scheduled to be used.

The council made its estimation Thursday in commending the U.S. Department of Transportation for its recent action in requiring the passive restraint system for all passenger cars sold in the United States.

The council said that by the 1980s, when air bags will be on the majority of cars on the road, as many as 10,000 lives a year could be saved in traffic accidents.

Frightening, isn't it? You see a picture like this and suddenly you feel you are standing at the edge of a chasm in the dark. You are confronted with the threat of the unknown, and you don't like it.

Why, you wonder? Why can't men live together in peace?

We all need the courage to face the future unafraid. We need to find and develop love, understanding and peace of mind. But to attain our goal, we need Faith. That help can be found in church.

On Worldwide Communion Sunday — millions of men and women will unite in one of Christianity's holy sacraments. There will be new faces at thousands of altars, men and women who have only recently begun to realize where man's Hope is to be found.

THE ARMY NURSE

One of today's nurses, 1st Lt. Kathy Cabell, carrying on the labor of compassion begun 70 years ago.

World War I Army nurses in France do their laundry in the field.

Seventy years of compassionate labor is a record to be proud of. It is a record which the Army Nurse Corps celebrates this year and which Picture Show marks with a historical review in photographs.

When the Corps was established in 1901 it was the first women's component of the U.S. Armed Forces, as well as being the first military nurse corps in the world. It came into being as a result of the efforts of civilian nurses who were employed by the Army to care for the sick and wounded during the Spanish-American War. Ever since, the all-officer corps has had as its mission the providing of safe and effective nursing services to military personnel and their families in peace and in war. Today 4,700 Army nurses serve at home and abroad—and some 1,000 of them are men, a development dating from 1955.

FUTURE FORETOLD
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Mrs. Mary Lou Smith of Orangeville may have made a believer out of TV newsmen Harry Martin when it comes to extrasensory perception.

Mrs. Smith, who says she has used her "power" to help find missing articles and children, told Martin in a Wednesday interview she had a vision of Martin in what resembled a hospital bed with his arms and legs raised as though he were in a cast.

Five hours later, Martin was involved in a three-car accident that left him confined to a hospital bed with his ankle raised in a cast.

Weaver's 4 Aces Make Sure Bet?

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Earl Weaver is never going to make a living playing poker.

He gives his hand away. You can tell what he has by looking at his face.

Here he is sitting with four aces, Dave McNally, Mike Cuellar, Jim Palmer and Pat Dobson, 20-game winners all, and although he can only start three the way the best three-offive playoffs between his Baltimore Orioles and Oakland A's are set up, he still looks like a man holding all the cards.

"You only need three pitchers this year because of the off-day for travel," says the Baltimore manager, who is starting McNally in the first game tomorrow, Cuellar in the second game Sunday and Palmer in Tuesday's third game at Oakland. Dobson will be in the bullpen if he's needed.

"I think my three are better than his three," says Williams about the trio he'll start in the playoffs—Blue, Hunter and Chuck Dobson.

"They're as good or better," Williams says. "Naturally, I'm living with mine. I respect his group."

The respect is mutual with Earl Weaver but he really glows when he gets around to his big four, who accounted for 81 of the Orioles' 101 victories among them this year. At times when Weaver talks about McNally, Cuellar, Palmer and Dobson he sounds as if he's talking about his sons rather than his pitchers.

"I wouldn't exactly refer to them as my sons," he laughs, "because I don't think any of them would be too happy having me as his father. I've had it out with three of them. I don't baby any one of them. They don't ask any favors and they don't get any."

When Weaver says he has "had it out" with his pitchers he doesn't mean he rolled up his sleeves. All he means is that he has had the ordinary disagreements about how to pitch to certain hitters any manager has occasionally.

"He knocked himself out getting all of us to win 20," McNally says.

Still, as manager, Earl Weaver likes to retain the right to call a pitch whenever he wishes.

"How often does he call a pitch?" a guy asked McNally. The Montana-born lefty laughed. "He called one pitch for me in three years. He wanted me to throw a slow curve to Frank Howard. I didn't want to. I threw him a slider. That still doesn't mean Weaver always is right."

"I told one of my pitchers I didn't want him throwing his fast ball for a strike to this particular hitter," said the Orioles' manager without identifying either party. "He got behind 3-and-1 and I called a curve. The hitter swung and missed. Then I called a slider and this guy lines a single to right. I mean a frozen rope."

"What did your pitcher say to that?"

"He came in and said 'Everytime I throw a slider he gets a hit on it,'" Weaver remembered. "I said, all right, you wanna throw him fast balls, go ahead. If he gets a hit on a fast ball, it'll cost you $100."

"What happened?"

"He didn't get fazed," Weaver said, laughing. "He pitched a helluva ball game and won it."

"You don't wanna say who the pitcher was?"

"Nope," Weaver said, still laughing. "I don't wanna say I won't."

Earl Weaver isn't a poker player anyway. Pinochle is his game.

they needed a two-thirds vote to break the filibuster staged by Southern and conservative senators, and they never got it in four attempts.

The two-thirds rule has stood now for 12 years. It was fashioned by former President Lyndon B. Johnson, then Senate majority leader, and represented a slight modification of an earlier rule requiring the votes of two-thirds of the entire Senate membership to invoke cloture.

They had majority support. But

Communist China Observes National Day Anniversary

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China celebrated its 22nd National Day anniversary Friday with several departures from past observances of its 1949 takeover of the mainland from the Nationalists.

A correspondent for Japan's Kyodo news service reported from the Chinese capital that "the Chinese appeared to be in a festive spirit as the Oct. 1 National Day celebrations were held in Peking and other major cities across the country."

The account added that a "joyous atmosphere prevailed in the capital as Peking residents flocked to sing and dance at six celebration sites."

But the report also noted that the traditional government and newspaper statements commemorating the anniversary were omitted this year.

Another change noted by foreign newsmen in Peking was that a traditional banquet on the eve of National Day usually hosted by Premier Chou En-lai, was replaced by a reception given by the Foreign Ministry.

Radio Peking didn't report on the reception until this morning. In past years, the radio broadcast the banquet and the contents of Chou's speech the night of the event.

Monitors said the radio broadcast no speeches. The radio also failed to mention that Chou was absent from the reception.

The highest ranking Chinese officials there were listed as Vice Chairman Tung Pi-wu, Vice Premier Li Hsien-nien and the acting foreign minister, Chi Peng-fei, monitors said.

They said, however, that among the 400 Chinese officials and foreign diplomats at the "Grand Reception" Thursday night was Chou's wife, Teng Ying-chao, a member of the party central committee.

Peking canceled the usual parade and fireworks display in the capital, citing reasons of economy. The cancellation contributed to speculation that party Chairman Mao Tse-tung, 77, was ill or dead, although Chinese diplomats in several foreign capitals said he was in good health.

Mao customarily reviewed the parade from atop Tien An Men, the Gate of Heavenly Peace, in the heart of Peking.

The parade cancellation was not mentioned by the official Chinese news media, but they did report that leaders of Communist states have sent congratulatory messages to Mao and Lin Piao, his heir apparent who has long been ailing with tuberculosis.

Monitors said the flow of congratulatory messages constitutes additional evidence that Mao is alive and well.

The question of an application of a "new" member does not arise. There is no such application. China as a geographical entity already is a member.

The United Nations simply is to decide which China is the rightful member: the mainland regime of 800 million people or the one on the island of Taiwan controlling about 15 million.

The U.S. resolution says the question of expelling Chiang is an "important" one requiring a two-thirds vote of the membership. If the majority of the assembly agrees that it is an important question the United States will have some leverage.

Conceivably it could win enough votes to prevent a two-thirds vote against Taiwan.

One way or the other, the world is due to learn in about three weeks the outcome of a question which has haunted the United Nations for two decades.

Is there anything Taiwan itself can do? Not much, say the experts. Some say the Taiwan regime might make a play for a reprieve that would keep it in the General Assembly for another year, while the Security Council seat remained vacant, but the chances for that seem slim.

Can legal technicalities save the Taiwan regime from expulsion if the American resolution is defeated? That question arises because Taiwan holds one of the permanent veto-wielding seats on the Security Council which must approve new members. Also, the seat in the assembly was awarded originally to the "Republic of China," and not to the Communist "People's Republic."

But there is no evidence this can help the Chiang government. U.N. officials point out that the question of China's membership is not based on a political concept, but a geographical one. It is China, the nation-state, which holds the seat. Governments may be changed by coups, upheavals, elections or whatever, but the nation itself remains represented.

The same concept governs possession of the permanent seat in the Security Council.

Y Facilities
Open To Church Fellowships

The Jacksonville YMCA will be opening its facilities starting this Sunday evening for area church youth fellowships.

Started last year, the special program served 33 different churches. Because of its success, the special program has again been scheduled for this year.

An executive committee of church representatives has been elected to assist in developing the program.

The Sunday evening activity from 6 to 9 p.m. is open to Youth Fellowship groups from any church in the greater Jacksonville area. The Sundays are separated into two divisions: The junior high groups meeting on the first and third Sundays, and the senior high groups meeting on the second and fourth Sundays.

The purpose of the program is to allow individual churches to combine so a sufficient number will be in attendance for good social activities such as volleyball, basketball, swimming, etc., and to stimulate fellowship for better programs.

Churches may use the evening strictly as a fellowship recreation or combine recreation activities with a religious program.

The YMCA will be providing a pool guard and a gym leader, but each church must provide adult leadership. No youth will be permitted to use the facilities without an adult leader from his church. The facilities to be open are the gym, pool, handball courts, game room, lounge, club rooms, and weight room.

Cost of the Sunday activity for each church is $18 for the season, to be paid upon registration.

BIG MARIJUANA RAID
RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — Police arrested 200 persons and seized 20 kilos of marijuana in a seven-hour raid carried out in the slum district of the Mangueira Hill Thursday here, they said.

Police said that about 200 agents and 23 dogs were used in the raid at Mangueira, in the northern section of the city.

Water flowed through homes, fields and businesses Friday in eastern North Carolina as rain-swollen storm Ginger moved inland, losing strength but leaving widespread damage in her wake.

Rain and high tides from the storm, which hit the coast with hurricane-force winds Thursday, swelled the Pungo and Pamlico rivers and flooded stretches of highway up to five miles long. Soybean, peanut and corn fields in this farming area were inundated.

It was not immediately known how long the fields would be flooded and what the damage to crops would be. But Dr. Guy L. Jones extension agronomist at North Carolina State University at Raleigh, estimated crop damage would amount to several million dollars.

Before the storm moved inland, property damage in the Morehead City area alone was estimated at nearly $1 million by spokesman for the Insurance Information Institute. Further estimates awaited reports from flooded communities, some of which were without telephone service.

But the worst-hit area apparently was Belhaven on the banks of the Pungo where it widens to flow into the sound.

At one point Thursday night, water was more than four feet deep. When the river receded Friday, water remained trapped in low-lying areas, still covering many streets and fields.

At Washington, 30 miles east of the tip of the wide mouth of the Pamlico River, water rose into dozens of riverside homes and into six businesses on the outskirts of town.

Meanwhile, Ginger crept slowly northward near Raleigh. The U.S. Weather Service changed its designation from a hurricane to a tropical storm during the night and demoted it to a tropical depression Friday morning.

33 INJURED IN UNDERGROUND EXPLOSION

PORT ANGELES, Wash. (UPI) — Thirty-three persons were injured Thursday night in an underground explosion which rocked a three-story brick building and ripped up 125 feet of sidewalk.

Fourteen persons were hospitalized at Olympic Memorial Hospital. One critically injured man was flown by Coast Guard helicopter to Seattle for further treatment.

Two others were taken to the Coast Guard infirmary here and one of them, in a state of shock, was also flown to Seattle.

The blast rocked a building housing the Hagwuew Restaurant, the 80-room Olympia Hotel and a Glamour-Elle health spa. Estimates of damage ranged up to $500,000. The explosion occurred under the sidewalk about 11:20 p.m. PDT.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed the week Friday with a moderate gain, extending its rally into its second day.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed up 6.79 to 893.96. On Thursday, the Dow rose a little over 3 points.

Analysts said the upturn was primarily the result of bargain hunting. The market had been sliding in recent sessions, they pointed out, and many issues were becoming oversold.

The moderate volume indicated that no great buying spree had developed, analysts continued. Still, they regarded the advance as a positive sign, since it developed in spite of fairly negative news developments.

Strikes by coal miners and longshoremen dominated the economic news background. The still unsettled international monetary situation and uncertainties over what will follow the expiration of the current wage-price freeze were major background factors affecting investors, brokers noted.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 13.41 million shares, compared with 13.50 million shares Thursday.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks closed up 0.33 at 54.66.

Of the 1,688 stocks traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 889 advanced, and 502 declined. There were 48 new highs and 46 new lows.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 2.0 to 325.5, with industrials up 2.2, rails up 1.1, and utilities up 1.5.

Caterpillar Tractor was most active on the Big Board, closing down 2 1/2 at 48 3/4. A block of 184,700 shares traded during the session at 49, off 1 1/2.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index rose 0.12 to 25.54. Of the 1,131 stocks traded, 538 advanced and 325 declined. Volume totaled 4.03 million shares, compared with 3.84 million shares Thursday.

Business — Market Wrapup

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — This is October, and those stock market traders whose choices are influenced by seasonal patterns don't expect to get rich. They know that during this month there aren't many wild bulls in Wall Street barns.

Based on average month to month changes in stock prices, this month is one of the worst on the calendar, matched by February and exceeded only by June, which in the period 1949-1969 showed a net loss in values.

October is considered a time for portfolio tax selling. It is the time when many households strap themselves with new purchases. And it has a reputation for being a month of tight money.

And this year, it is the month before Phase 2 of the new economic plan, which means that most big traders are waiting for news. Should that news be considered favorable, it could mean a departure from the trend.

The contrary opinion about October should also be considered. It warns that while hunting for bear you could miss the charge of the bull. If he is lethargic, it says, mount him now for the charge into November and December.

The two final months of the year have traditionally been months of big advances. Portfolios are being rebuilt and the big pension funds are making heavy once-a-year commitments. October prices therefore may be bargains.

Seasonal traders also will be watching the charts in "The Stock Trader's Almanac" which show that automobile stocks tend to be strongest in the summer and fall, and weakest in the winter and spring.

And they can hardly miss noting that in October there is a decided tendency for the prices of airlines, cameras, soft drinks and television set makers to bottom out and begin making gains that accelerate in November.

Seasonal patterns and cycles do exist, and nowhere else are they more observable than in the stock market, where thousands of traders and advisers sit hunched over charts of every conceivable sort.

A study by Merrill Lynch of a 10-year period beginning in 1954 showed that $10,000 invested in air conditioning stocks would have grown to $16,340, excluding commissions and taxes.

"However," reports the Trader's Almanac, "a strategy of selling your air conditioning stocks every March and reinvesting the entire proceeds each following October... would have run your original $10,000 up to $44,720!"

DOCK STRIKE
AFFECTS GRAIN,
SOYBEAN FUTURES

CHICAGO (AP) — The strike of longshoremen on the East and Gulf Coasts had diverse effects on commodity futures prices on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

When it was learned that Gulf and East Coast longshoremen had joined the West Coast longshoremen on strike, the opening in commodity futures was weak. Soybeans eased around 1 cent and corn, wheat and oats somewhat under that level.

A little later after the opening, there was a trade report that the Nixon administration would invoke the Taft-Hartley Law, which would install an 80-day cooling-off period while negotiations to end the dispute continued.

Soybeans futures then rallied nearly 2 cents above the previous close and wheat, corn and oats rose nearly 1 cent a bushel.

However, a statement from Washington that the Taft-Hartley Law would not be invoked then tended to dampen the buying spirit and the rally was stifled.

Some of the early selling also was influenced by continuing good weather for harvesting of corn and soybeans.

Soybean oil and meal futures were weak on the opening but, when beans rallied, the end products then turned around. Cash level prices of oil and meal showed little change.

After the last word from Washington, the pace of trade then slowed down noticeably.

Iced broiler futures were little changed in very dull trade. After about an hour, soybeans were 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents a bushel higher, November 3.10 1/4; wheat was 1/4 to 1/2 higher, December 1.47 1/2; corn was 1/4 to 1/2 higher, December 1.17 1/2; and oats were 1/4 to 1/2 higher, December 65 1/2 cents.

The most frequently used keys on a typewriter are on the left and it is termed the "only left-handed machine in general use."

Story Of Property
Without Taxes Told

By CARLTON SMITH

Here's a tip on how to make an easy $83,500, tax free. Besides a minimum investment—less than 4 percent—all you need is a body that you can bury for a few years.

The method has been tried and proved by a church organization in Hartford, Conn. It bought 121 acres of vacant land, at a cost of $23,500, and classified it as a cemetery—which made it tax-exempt. One body was buried. Time passed, and land values appreciated. Five or six years ago the body was removed and the land parcel sold—for $607,000, all tax-free.

You say you can't do that because you're not a church or organization? Don't worry. The same book that reports the above incident tells you about laws that allow three persons to incorporate as a church. Put an altar in the basement, hold a 90-minute service once a week... zippo, your home is a tax-exempt house of worship.

Be careful about reading this book, because if you're a taxpayer it's liable to induce a fit of apoplexy. You'll learn, for example, that approximately one-third of all the potentially taxable real estate in the country is tax-exempt. Who, then, digs up the money to support the schools, city services and the other costs—including the share not paid by the free-loaders? You.

The book is "The Free List" by Alfred Balk—the story of property without taxes. It's a thoroughly researched study, semicholarily in style, heavy on footnotes and tables, a publication of the nonprofit Russell Sage Foundation (distributed by Basic Books, Inc.; hardcover, $7.50).

It's not exactly popular reading; and although every taxpayer ought to read it, not many will. But certainly every city and county official ought to own a copy. It's a carefully documented analysis of a national scandal.

You learn that the world's tallest tax exemption is New York City's 77-story skyscraper, the Chrysler Building. It's owned by Cooper Union, an educational institution. In the Chicago area there's the big bottling plant built to Pepsi's specifications, by that real estate entrepreneur, Northwestern University—and so it, too, is tax-free. Examples multiply by the hundreds and the thousands.

More than a scandal, it's a problem reaching crisis dimensions in many areas. In both San Francisco and Boston, it's estimated that nearly half of all taxable property is exempt. In many cities in between, the ratio is climbing past one-third. It's an ever-spreading disease of our tax system.

What happens when the federal government (the biggest free-loader of all) puts up another office building, or a department store goes up on the tax-free land of a university (as in Michigan)? The land and the buildings are lost to the tax rolls. Someone else has to pay their share of the taxes—while the exempt owners consume their share of city or county services.

If cities, school districts and other units of local government are facing financial crises, and individual taxpayers crushing burdens, here is doubtless a significant contributing cause.

There are remedies, detailed by the author of "The Free List." They've been demonstrated workable, in scattered areas, though they haven't been popular with some large and well-entrenched interests. They'll meet with opposition—but one thing is clear.

Local officials, and the voters who pay taxes, had better get familiar with both the problem and the remedies.

Marichal, Giants
Claim Title, 5-1

SAN DIEGO (AP) — High-kicking Juan Marichal pitched the San Francisco Giants to the National League's elusive West Division title Thursday night with a masterful 5-1 victory over the San Diego Padres in the final game of the season.

The victory sent the Giants into the best-of-five playoff series against Pittsburgh, the East champion, for the National League pennant. The series starts Saturday in San Francisco.

The Giants, who had frittered away almost all of an 8 1/2-game lead to the pursuing Los Angeles Dodgers with a dreadful September slump, had to call on the ace of their staff to nail down the division crown and Marichal was superb.

The veteran right-hander from the Dominican Republic permitted just five hits and the only run the Padres managed was unearned—the result of an error by Marichal himself.

Rookie Dave Kingman, filling in for injured Bobby Bonds, the Giants' offensive leader, ripped a two-run homer that provided the big difference for the Giants.

Marichal and Dave Roberts, ace left-hander of the Padres' pitching staff, had matched zeroes through the first three innings of the tense game

THE DOCTOR SAYS Rapid Heart Beat Is Not Normal

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Read your article on low blood pressure. You stated it is usually harmless. My husband had a stroke and he had low blood pressure. Since then, his heartbeat never goes below 110 and usually is 120. Still low pressure. If he does work with any strain, he has a very uneven beat, with pain in the chest. Also, he gets shaky. I wish you would comment on this. He also has a nervous condition and his left arm will shake if he does much labor.

He has been told to cut down on his activity. Stay out of crowded places. Any comment would be appreciated. He is 52 now and was 50 when he had the stroke.

Dear Reader—I doubt your husband's stroke was related to his low blood pressure. In reviewing my column on low blood pressure, I see I pointed out that low blood pressure as part of a serious disease like tuberculosis. Shock or heart failure was something else again. It is true that individuals with low blood pressure without any apparent illness live longer in better health than other individuals. Your husband has additional problems.

Pain in the chest with exertion and a persistent fast heart rate suggest there may be more difficulties than just a stroke. A persistent fast heart rate is not normal.

He should have a careful evaluation of his cardiac status and possibly a thorough evaluation for overactive thyroid or other endocrine abnormality or anemia. A person who had a stroke two years ago should no longer have this type of problem unless there is something else, too. Damage to parts of the central nervous system can cause changes in the blood pressure and heart rate, but these should not be present while your husband is resting, lying down.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I read in the paper about the person who doesn't like being five feet tall. I would like to be five feet tall instead of five feet and a quarter inch. I would rather be an even height. I like being short, though. I am shorter than guys. I am 21, also. I am a girl who feels it is great to be short, be proud of it. I think people should accept their height, whether short or tall.

Dear Reader—That's a good attitude, and "guys" often like little girls. Guys, however, like to think of themselves as "big, powerful, he-men" so they become little Napoleons. It is too bad, too, since there are so many better ways a man can show strength, character and ability. You are right—people should be happy with their height. If you are short, there isn't much you can do about it anyway, so enjoy it.

Routt Romps 51-0; JHS And ISD Blanked

Rockets Notch Third With Offensive Show

MEREDOSIA — Quarterback Tom Lockman turned in a good night's work and the Routt defense held Meredosia to well under 100 yards rushing as the Rockets crushed the Indians 51-0 in a PMSC Conference game Friday night.

Routt, now 3-0 overall and 2-0 in PMSC play, scored three times in the initial period with Lockman breaking the ice on a one-yard run. The run for the extra point failed.

Paul Kaufmann who scored four times on the night, put Routt ahead 12-0 mid-way in the period as he combined with Lockman for a 49-yard pass play, with the pass for the extra point falling dead in the end zone.

The Lockman-Kaufmann combination scored again before the period ended, this time on a pass play covering 44 yards, and Joe Bernardini kicked the extra point to give Routt a 19-0 first quarter lead.

The Rockets scored three times in the second stanza, the first on a 43-yard end around play by Kaufmann, and Bernardini again booted the PAT. Defenseman Bob Lemon grabbed a wayward Indian pass on the next series and loped 35 yards for the touchdown, and Bernardini split the uprights on the conversion. The quarter ended as Lockman again found Kaufmann open for 17 yards and the tally to give Routt a 39-0 lead at halftime.

Clearing the bench in the second half, Routt failed to score until the fourth period when quarterback Chris Billiot hit Bob Henkhaus on a 12-yard pass for the first touchdown and Stuart Splain dove five yards later in the quarter for the final score. The conversion attempts for both touchdowns failed.

Meredosia is now 0-3 thus far and has a 0-1 mark in the PMSC.

Carrollton Drops North Greene 32-22

By BOB HUGHES

CARROLLTON — Host Carrollton stunned North Greene with 13 quick points before the Spartans could run an offensive play, and then added three more TDs to defeat the visitors 32-22 in a key Illinois Valley Conference game Friday night.

With both clubs rated high in the IVC, the win lifts Carrollton to a 2-1 record overall and 1-0 in the conference while North Greene slips to 0-3 for the season and 0-1 in the IVC.

The high scoring affair turned out to be, for the most part, an offensive duel between Carrollton's Ed Roundcount and North Greene's David Bell. Roundcount, operating from his wingback position, rushed for 154 yards in only 14 carries, including scoring scampers of 56 and 54 yards, in addition to catching a 29-yard scoring pass from Joe Howard.

Bell accounted for most of the Spartan offensive total, picking up 67 yards rushing in 11 carries and completing nine passes for 174 yards. Executing some fine play-action faking, Bell hit end Rick Dawdy five times for 108 yards.

Carrollton scored on its first play from scrimmage when Roundcount took a double reverse hand-off from Dean Bottom and went 54 yards for the score.

Moments later the hosts made it 13-0 when, after recovering a North Greene fumble on the kick-off, Bottom capped a 30-yard, eight play drive by driving in from the two, with only four minutes gone in the game.

Later in the opening period, Carrollton upped its lead to 19-0, moving 51 yards in only five plays with the score coming on a Howard pass to Roundcount covering 29 yards. The TD was set up by Ed Symes' interception of a Bell pass.

North Greene scored its first touchdown of the 1971 season late in the second round when Bell went in from the Carrollton five. Two Bell completions covering 40 yards were the big plays in the 53-yard drive.

Carrollton went to work again midway through the third period, moving 68 yards in 17 plays with the long drive finally ending with Howard hitting end Dave Grueter with a 10-yard TD strike three plays into the final stanza. North Greene came right back to cut the lead to 26-14 four minutes later on a one-yard plunge by fullback Larry Reager, but the momentum quickly switched back to Carrollton as Roundcount, on the first play after the kickoff, broke over right tackle for 56 yards and a touchdown, upping the lead back to 32-14.

Highlighted by a 41-yard pass from Bell to Dawdy, North Greene scored once more on a 5-yard run by Bell with 4:44 left, slicing the lead to 32-22, but Carrollton prevented any further comeback ideas by holding on to the ball for the remaining minutes of the game.

Bottom complemented Roundcount's running by picking up 91 yards in 19 tries while Hawk fullback Rick Olmstead contributed 37 yards in 18 lunges.

Porta Defeated 32-18 On Cold Opening Half

MACKINAW—Deer Creek Mackinaw ran up a 12-0 half-time lead and held off Porta in the second half for a 32-18 non-conference victory over the Bluejays Friday evening.

Dan Martin was the offensive star for the winners, now 2-1, scoring on runs of 19 and 28 yards and setting up two more scores with long runbacks, including one of 60 yards on a kickoff. Mike Crews scored on a run of 24 yards and added a two-point conversion and Kevin Elliott raced in from nine yards. Dee-Mack's final score came on the last play of the game with David Jacobs throwing 32 yards to Henry Heron.

Porta was sparked by an outstanding effort by quarterback Bob Brauer. Brauer hit Rod Wiseman with scoring tosses of 56 and 28 yards in the third period and connected with Greg Squires for 20 yards in the final period. Brauer had over 300 yards of Porta's 230 passing yards.

Porta led in first downs 10-6 but had a minus 20 yards rushing to 99 by the winners.

Porta now stands 1-3 on the year.

Tigers Romp Past Auburn By 30-0 Count

GREENFIELD—Greenfield took advantage of severe Auburn fumbles and romped to a 30-0 MSM Conference win Friday night.

Greenfield scored in every quarter with sophomores and juniors accounting for all 30 points. Sophomore kicking specialist Kevin Williams broke the ice in the game when he hit a 27-yard field goal in the opening period.

Junior fullback Russell Finney scored Greenfield's first touchdown as he carried across from the eight-yard line. Williams' kick made it 10-0. Sophomore tailback Chuck Schirz followed Finney's example and rambled to paydirt from 14 yards out. The kick by Williams was no good on this try.

The Tigers got on the scoreboard in the third quarter as junior tight end Bill Hammer scored on a double reverse good for nine yards. Williams' kick was perfect on this try.

The final period saw sophomore quarterback Jim McClelland firing a 24-yard pass to Finney for the winner's final touchdown. The kick by Williams for the point after was good. Finney himself jumped on four of the seven fumbles lost by Auburn.

Greenfield coach Richard Tucker commended lineman Dave Baldus for his lead-blocking on sweeps and also defensive end Stan McClelland for his fierce pass rush.

Greenfield and Auburn each had 10 first downs, but that is where the similarity ends. The Tigers had 260 yards on the ground and 30 through the air for a total of 290 while Auburn marched for 119 yards and passed for 20 for a total of 139. In the penalty column, Greenfield had three for 45 yards while Auburn was whistled twice for 20 yards. Williams punted seven times for Greenfield, averaging 44 yards per boot.

Greenfield's overall and conference record is now 2-1 while Auburn is 0-1.

Tigers Notch 8-6 Victory Over Macomb

MACOMB — Ron Kuhlman found Kerry Laughary open in the second quarter on a pass play for the Tigers only touchdown and Beardstown added the deciding conversion to nip Macomb High school 8-6 in a Spoon River Conference game played Friday night.

Macomb failed to score until late in the fourth quarter when Ed Justice drove for two yards to set up the possibility of a tie. The Tiger defense held, however, to insure the final two point margin of victory.

Beardstown is now 3-0 overall and in conference play, while Macomb is 0-3 and 0-1 in the Spoon River.

JERSEYVILLE—John Bast scored once and passed for another touchdown as Bethalto nipped Jerseyville 14-8 in a Mississippi Valley Conference tilt Friday night.

After a scoreless first half Bethalto, now 1-2 both overall and in the new conference race, clicked after a 62-yard, ten-play drive in the third quarter with Bast hitting Randy Null with a 50-yard strike. Bob Mayers scored the two-point conversion on a Bast pass.

Bethalto scored with seven minutes left in the game with Bast capping a 34-yard, seven-play drive following a fumble with a one-yard lunge.

Jerseyville, now 0-3 and 0-2, got on the board with 4:30 left, moving 58 yards in seven plays with Darrell Jones taking a ten-yard toss from Chuck Gast. Bill Robertson legged the conversion points.

Calhoun Blasts ISD In 58-0 Romp

By JERRY SEIBERT

The Calhoun Warriors completely outclassed the Illinois School for the Deaf Tigers, 58-0, in an abbreviated contest played Friday on a hot, windy afternoon at the ISD field.

Behind a powerful ground game and two timely passes, the visitors easily rolled to a 44-0 lead at halftime. Both teams agreed to play eight-minute quarters in the final half instead of the regular twelve-minute periods. Under a new rule for high school football this year, periods can be shortened or omitted in a game by agreement of both teams.

Calhoun started the style it was to follow throughout the game on the second play from scrimmage as senior halfback Dan Becker broke off left tackle and galloped 64 yards to paydirt. Greg Ringhausen dove over for the two-point conversion.

ISD then received the ball on the kickoff but could not move. On their first three downs, the Tigers picked up little yardage and were faced with a fourth and sixth situation on their own 37. Choosing to go for it, the host's quarterback Bob Smania was pulled down for a two-yard loss and the ball went over to Calhoun.

The Warriors, themselves faced with a fourth down and five play on their next series, chose to go for it and it proved the right play as quarterback Rick Rulon dropped back and hit end Phil Devening on a 30-yard pass for the visitors' second score. This time halfback Tom Ringhausen carried the ball over for the two extra points.

Calhoun again capitalized after blocking a Tiger punt and taking over on ISD's 17-yard line. A clipping penalty set the Warriors back to the 32 where Greg Ringhausen took the ball on a reverse and scooted for the third Warrior touchdown. The conversion attempt failed.

Near the end of the first quarter, the Tigers marched down to the Calhoun 19-yard line on a 17-yard run by Steve Taylor and a 10-yarder by Aire Buchanan. A fifteen-yard loss set them back to the 34 and they lost all hopes of scoring on a fumble recovered by Calhoun.

The Warriors started off the second quarter in the same fashion as they put together a 62-yard scoring drive, capped off by another Rulon touchdown pass, this time to junior end Tom Roth for 29 yards. The point after was no good and the score stood 28-0.

Another ISD fumble led to the winners' next score as senior linebacker Dan Snyder picked up the loose ball on the Tiger 12 and bowled his way into the end zone. Greg Ringhausen gained his second two-point conversion for the afternoon.

The locals' Bill Davis took the kickoff to the 30-yard line after a runback of 12 yards. They put together a drive of eight plays and three first downs, advancing into Calhoun territory. But another fumble proved costly as the Warriors recovered on their own 44 and on the next play Tom Ringhausen raced up the middle for a 56-yard touchdown jaunt. Greg Ringhausen again carried on the conversion and picked up his third two-pointer.

The shortened second-half followed the pattern of the first, with reserves seeing most of the playing time for both squads. ISD had several offensive opportunities but again fumbles proved their downfall.

In the middle of the third quarter, after stopping ISD on their own 21, the winners used seven plays to reach the goal-line as sophomore halfback Roger Becker scooted around left end from 11 yards out for the tally. The point after try was no good this time.

The ISD defensive unit provided a bright spot for the team as they halted another Calhoun drive with Buchanan picking off a pass on his own 12-yard line. Things dulled quickly, however, as the next play saw a Tiger pass picked off by the Warriors' Dan Becker. ISD got the ball one more time in the final stanza, but once again fumbled, setting up Calhoun's eighth touchdown. It came on another Rulon to Devening pass, this time for 28 yards. The conversion try was the last play of the game and it was good to make the final 58-0.

The net yardage totals were also very indicative of how one-sided the game was. Calhoun amassed 292 yards rushing and 71 by passing, totaling 369 net yards, while holding ISD to a net of 24 yards, dumping the quarterback several times. Fumbles hurt the locals' cause

Kopatz Leads Lions Past Crimson 38-0

SPRINGFIELD—For the third year in a row Jim Kopatz, one of the state's top all-around athletes, proved to be almost a one-man scoring machine as Lanphier rolled to a 38-0 Capitol Conference shutout over Jacksonville at Memorial Stadium Friday evening.

Kopatz, a 190-pound senior quarterback who rolled up over 300 yards in Lanphier's 15-0 count over the Crimson last year, pulled a near repeat Friday. The all-state basketball player scored one touchdown, passed for two more, kicked a field goal and three extra points and ran for a two-point conversion to have a hand in 26 of the 38 points on the Lanphier side of the scoreboard.

Lanphier, now 2-1 on the season and 1-1 in the conference, completely dominated the offensive statistics. The Lions rolled up 445 net yards gained, scoring on six of the 12 times they had the ball. On the other six occasions Lanphier controlled the ball from scrimmage the Lions were stalled once at the one, twice at the JHS 23 and once at the Crimson's 30, 34 and 41.

Kopatz was the leader in that department as well. He ran for 81 yards in 12 carries and hit eight of 14 passes for 166 yards for a personal pickup of 247 yards.

Jacksonville for the first time this season was held under 100 yards rushing, but had its best aerial effort with junior quarterback Brad Campbell connecting on seven of 13 tosses for 43 yards.

The game was virtually settled in the opening quarter. After Steve Anders' fumble recovery at the JHS 23 stopped the first Lanphier threat, the hosts went to work in a hurry. The Lions moved 53 yards in six plays on the next series, with Kopatz keeping three times, hitting Ross Groves for 21 yards to the four and keeping again for the final four yards. Kopatz booted the point after for a 7-0 count with 2:47 showing in the opening quarter.

An ensuing inside kick clicked with Lanphier recovering on its own 45. On the next play Kopatz hit speedy flanker Raymond Douglas with a 55-yard scoring toss and again booted the PAT for a 14-0 score only 26 seconds after the first score.

Lanphier was again stopped at the JHS 23 in the second quarter, and stalled at the JHS 30 later in the frame when Kopatz's attempted field goal from the 30 was short.

JHS elected to go for it on a fourth down late in the half, with Kopatz taking advantage.

Industry Nabs 14-0 Shoutout Over Bluejays

BLUFFS—Industry scored on its first series of plays and added another touchdown in the fourth quarter as they shutout Bluffs 14-0 in a non-conference game Friday night.

Bluffs could never get a sustained drive going, having two 18-yard gains and a 45-yard pass play called back due to penalties. For the entire contest, the Bluejays were whistled for eight violations good for a total of 100 yards.

Industry ate up most of the first quarter with their first series of plays, going 65 yards in 11 minutes for the score. Tailback Reidling scored the touchdown on a 6-yard plunge. The fourth quarter saw Industry end Foreman capping a 30-yard drive as he went over for the six points and also made good on the two-point conversion attempt.

Bluffs is now 2-1 for the season.

Lanphier moved 42 yards in six plays for a score to open the second half, with fullback Dan McKibben busting the final yard. After being stopped at the 34 midway through the round, the Lions blitzed JHS again with a 60-yard, six-play thrust. Kopatz again connected with Douglas, this time for a 23-yard scoring strike, and proceeded to leg the conversion for a 31-0 spread 11 seconds from the end of the chapter.

The final Lanphier score came early in the fourth at the end of a 54-yard, five-play drive, with halfback Rick Mitchell going the last five yards and Kopatz kicking the final point 9:52 from the finish.

Jacksonville threatened to avoid the shutout late in the game, marching from its own 46 to the Lanphier four before bogging down. Dave Waltrip had two sizeable gains and Campbell hit two of two passes to Cliff Rimbey down to the six. George Haley was thrown for a three-yard loss on fourth down, but a penalty gave the Crimson a final chance at the four before Isaac Haley was halted at the line.

Reserve quarterback Ted Alstatt hit Henry Davis with a long pass down to the Crimson one as the game ended, with a JHS lineman recovering a fumble and returning it to the Lanphier 45 after time had elapsed.

The only other Crimson penetration into Lanphier ground had been to the 32 and 44 in the second quarter.

Blass And Bucs Face Perry, SF

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — There was an understandably sober reaction in Los Angeles when the San Francisco Giants finally nailed down the National League's exclusive West Division championship and the victory wasn't exactly greeted with cheers in Pittsburgh, either.

It was no secret that the Pirates, champions of the East, were rooting for the Dodgers to take the West, and for an entirely selfish reason. They simply play better baseball against Los Angeles than they do against San Francisco.

In 12 meetings with the Giants this season, the Pirates won just three times. Against the Dodgers, on the other hand, Pittsburgh held an 8-4 season edge.

And to make matters worse, the Pirates must open the National League best-of-five playoff series against the Giants Saturday in Candlestick Park, a place they consider an absolute house of horrors.

The records show that the Pirates have won just two games and lost 10 against the Giants at Candlestick in the last two seasons.

Both Pirate victories over that stretch were turned in by veteran Steve Blass, so it's no surprise that he will open the playoff series against the Giants. San Francisco will counter with Gaylord Perry, 16-12.

Manager Charlie Fox was dripping champagne in the happy Giant dressing room Thursday night after San Francisco locked up the West on Juan Marichal's 5-1 five-hitter against San Diego. But he was coherent enough to name his rotation for the Pirates.

"It will be Perry Saturday, John Cumberland Sunday and Marichal on Tuesday," said Fox. And the happy little Giant skipper added a word of warning:

Perry and Marichal have been pitching just wonderfully," he said. "With a couple of breaks, they both could have won 20 games."

Marichal finished with 18 victories, none of them more important than the masterful one he turned in against the Padres to clinch the title.

Perry will be working with three days rest. He went the route Tuesday night, protecting the Giants' one-game lead by beating the Padres 7-1. Cumberland, a pickup last season from the New York Yankees, gave the Giant staff a much needed boost early this year and finished with a 9-6 record. He was knocked out in the fifth inning Wednesday night against San Diego and also will have three full days of rest.

The Giants, whose parade of walking wounded is huge, hope to have their offensive leader, Bobby Bonds, available for Saturday's opener.

Bonds sat out Thursday's clincher with a sore rib cage, but his replacement, rookie Dave Kingman, ripped a two-run homer.

Triopia Outlasts Virginia 22-14 In PMSC Opener

CONCORD—Tied 14-14 with Virginia going into the second half, the hosts from Triopia posted the margin of victory in the third quarter on a John Carls to Dave Hatfield pass to record a 22-14 PMSC Conference win over the Redbirds Friday night.

Both teams scored touchdowns in the initial period with Triopia getting its first on a five yard drive by Gary Meyer that capped a 60 yard effort by the Trojans. Virginia came right back on the next series to tie the score and go ahead by two as Bruce Miller scampered for 48 yards and ran for the extra points to give the Redbirds an 8-6 lead at the close of the first period.

Triopia returned to take the lead with four minutes gone in the second stanza when Carls found Meyer open for a pass play covering 23 yards for the TD and pitched to him moments later for the extra points.

Miller tied the score late in the period as he took a handoff and drove seven yards through the Triopia defense late in the second quarter for the Redbirds' final tally.

The Trojans, now 1-2 overall and 1-0 in the PMSC, picked up the winning touchdown on the Carls to Hatfield pass that covered 20 yds. and got the extra points as Triopia's quarterback flipped to Hatfield open in the endzone.

The victors gained 172 yards rushing, with Meyer accounting for 81 yards, and 91 yards passing.

Virginia is now 0-3 overall and 0-1 in PMSC play.

TUMBLING TIGER: Halfback Aire Buchanan of ISD tumbles over the top of a fallen Warrior as he is brought down after a short gain during the Tigers' game with Calhoun at the ISD athletic field Friday afternoon. Tiger backs were allowed only 24 total yards by the stingy Warrior defense. Calhoun won the game, 58-0.

Senators' Fans Took Final Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was a night the Washington Senators' fans will long remember. A wild trip.

They unleashed their wrath on club owner Bob Short Thursday night in the final game played in Washington but let the players know they had a deep affection for them.

The 14,460 fans, plus several thousand who got in free, cheered the team, booed and screamed at Short for moving the club to Texas and finally stopped the game and forced the Senators to forfeit to the New York Yankees.

From the first inning when a mammoth Frank Howard stepped to the plate the mood of people in the stands could be sensed. Howard's name was announced and the fans rose to their feet and gave him a two-minute standing ovation.

When Howard hit his 26th home run of the year in the sixth inning off left-hander Mike Kekich, the ovation was deafening.

The Gentle Giant had to come out of the dugout twice before the applause ended once to throw his cap into the stands and then to shower the fans with thrown-kisses.

Howard has been one of the few Senators to publicly complain about Short's moving the team to Dallas-Fort Worth next year, leaving the nation's capital without a major team for the first time in 71 years.

"This wasn't my game or the team's game tonight," he said. "It was their game. They're the great fans in the world, and I ain't kidding. Sure, they've been rough on me and I've deserved it. But when you do something right, they recognize it. They're the greatest."

Manager Ted Williams agreed that it was the fans' night. He said he wasn't surprised or dismayed at the surging saw thousands of fans pour onto the field with one out to go in the ninth and the Senators ahead 7-5.

"One more loss won't affect our overall performance this year," said Williams, whose 6-3 record is the worst in seven years. "We took Howard out in the ninth so we wouldn't encourage it. And we called in our bullpen with two outs and took all the bats out of the racks."

It could be felt that the fans would react before the end of the game.

Small groups ran out each inning to shake a hand or touch base and the game was held up in the eighth while several were escorted from the field. A public address announcement in the ninth that the game would be forfeited didn't deter those who wanted a souvenir, a base or a pitching mound or a number off the scoreboard.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles begin defense of their world championship Saturday by sending Dave McNally out to pitch against the Oakland A's and Vida Blue—admittedly moody, and possibly tense, on the eve of the American League playoff opener.

The weather forecast called for a 50 per cent chance of rain for the UNITED NATIONS—Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban, in a policy speech to the U.N. General Assembly Thursday, calls on the Egyptians to meet him face to face this month to discuss "five roads to peace" in the Middle East, including both a reopening of the Suez Canal and an overall settlement. Conspicuous by its emptiness is the aisle seat of the Egyptian section, which traditionally is filled by the head of a delegation. Sitting next to it is Mahamoud Farghal, an Egyptian representative. WASHINGTON — Secretary of Treasury John B. Connally, addressing the annual meeting of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund here Thursday, opposed a change in the price of gold by the United States but said the administration would lift the import surcharge if other governments move to drop trade barriers. Off With The Old, On With The New

We can now heave a sigh of relief. It's now too far into fall to worry about those things we didn't get done during the summer.

It's too late to plant the window boxes with trailing vines and tuberous begonias. It's too late to fix the drain in the portable swimming pool. It's too late to follow through on that summertime threat of "Absolutely no more soft drinks on that front porch or the ants will carry us away!"

We don't have to fix the hole in the bedroom window screen—the one we've been promising to patch every Monday since March.

That reading schedule we made out in May—including the three-volume Life of Charles Dickens. Well, it's too late to start that, for heaven's sake, because the football games are already on TV.

Better wait until next summer to go ahead with our every-year plans for a hiking tour of New England. Sorting through that old trunk filled with grandma's quilt pieces can wait one more year. Next summer will serve just as well for painting the trim of the house, for posting a regular schedule for grass cutting instead of having a regular quarrel over it, for setting fines for not hanging up swimsuits, for enforcing a rule about always cleaning the racks on the outdoor grill immediately after use. And, we might as well throw away all those packets of seed we planned for the herb garden in June. Wait a minute! Let's use them for a potted kitchen window garden. A perfect winter project if I ever heard of one!

We aren't concerned with the merits of today's bidding, but the final contract of six diamonds looks fairly reasonable at first glance.

South rose with dummy's ace of clubs and led a low diamond to his ace. There was no reason to take a first round finesse. West showed out of diamonds and South paused.

Then he led king and another diamond. East won and returned a spade to dummy's ace. South got back to his hand by ruffing a spade and ran off the rest of his trumps. The last trump squeezed West in hearts and clubs and South made his slam.

"Horseshoes!" yelled East. "You played for a 5-1 club break and gave up the chance to get a quick discard on a good heart."

South had done nothing of the kind. Instead he had made an excellent play and had been properly rewarded.

Masculine Double Talk Unique

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—There is no doubt that the American woman is expert at double talk—that is, the saying of one thing while thinking another.

But the American male is certainly no slouch at this popular conversational sport either. When it comes to verbal hypocrisy, there isn't really much difference between man and woman.

Here, for instance, are a few common examples of masculine double talk. In each case what the male said is in quotes. It is followed by what he was actually thinking at the time.

"Hi there, sweet stuff!"—She makes every night seem like Halloween.

"Of course, most of the company's drop in net income is simply due to extraordinary and nonrecurring expenses."—We made so many boobies we lost our shirt.

"I remember clearly telling you this morning that I wouldn't be able to make the 6:14 train and would have to take a later one."—If a couple of the boys hadn't stayed with me, I wouldn't even have been poured on the 8:39 train.

"No, thanks, Dad, I don't think I'll be needing the car tonight."—I burned out the brakes last night, and don't want to drive it until you get them fixed.

"We draw your attention to the fact that your account remains unpaid now for the third straight month. Undoubtedly it is due to an oversight. However, we—" It's about time we sued this bum.

"Why don't we just sit in the park and watch the full moon, Maribel?"—I couldn't talk Mom out of enough money to take you to a movie.

"The reason I haven't grown a beard, Irma, is that it would make my face itch too much." Gee, I wish I was old enough to really grow a beard.

"I know we need a new house, honey, but not just any old house. It has to be a house that's perfect for us in every way. Just keep on looking."—This year I couldn't afford to make the down payment on a new doghouse.

Polly's Pointers

Peeve: Hiding Fat In Packaged Meats

By POLLY CRAMER
Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I would like to use parts of an outdated fur coat as trimming on a new suit. Cutting the fur with scissors just makes a botched up job so I hope some of the readers can give me a method for satisfactorily cutting fur and also tell me how fur is sewn onto fabric. —ALICE

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with the supermarkets that package their fresh meats so that the nice, lean part is on top and then when the package is opened at home it is all fat on the bottom. I am sure there are other housewives who agree with me. —MRS. J.R.

DEAR POLLY—Jayne could take one of her worn pillowcases with a lace or embroidered border, turn it wrong side out, lay a coat hanger down on it and with a pencil draw the shape of the hanger. Leave border open. Sew along pencil line, leaving an opening for the hook to go through, just a long stitch is sufficient for this. Cut off the worn case and turn. Put over the hanger to have a pretty one that guests will compliment. —MRS. A. A.

DEAR POLLY—I make beautiful aprons and short curtains by sewing the cut-off embroidered and crocheted borders from worn pillowcases to the bottoms of the curtains or aprons. Cut around the embroidery and cut to within one inch of lace. Turn under a small seam. Before cutting the lace, stitch on the machine on each side of where the cut is to be so as to prevent raveling. —LIZA

DEAR POLLY—I want to tell Jayne how I have utilized pretty borders on pillowcases that were otherwise too worn to use. I cut the old cases off one-half inch above the unworn embroidered hems and then attached the pretty hems to new pillow tubing in the following way. Lay the right side of hem (embroidery side) down on the right side of the tubing. Have the tubing extend one-half inch above the hem. Baste and then machine-stitch three-eighths inch from the edge. Fold hem out, press and then neatly hand-stitch a small hem inside to conceal the raw edges. Done this way, one scarcely notices the hem is attached. Of course, the embroidery or trim has to be on the hem of the pillowcases or this will not work. —GRACE

Green Revolution 'Enriches' Impoverished Indian Farmers

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Kabul Singh, who farms a small inherited tract of land in India's Uttar Pradesh State, is one of the people the "Green Revolution" is helping. He is better off than most but—as his story shows—that isn't really very well off.

By ROBERT KAYLOR
MONDOLA VILLAGE, India (UPI)—By the standards of rural India, Kabul Singh is a wealthy and successful man. He owns four tattered shirts, cannot read or write, but grows enough food on his farm to feed his family well and sell some for a profit.

Singh is a thin, brown-skinned man, with sparse gray hair and a stubble of beard, who laughs easily to reveal his two remaining front teeth. He lives on the same spot of ground where he was born, a village complex that holds about 7,000 persons.

It is not sure of his age, but based on his own figure that he was about 14 years old when he married and his eldest daughter's statement that she is 40, Singh would be about 54 or 55. That is about six years above the average life expectancy in India.

a wage of about two rupees (26 cents) plus three meals each day. For them, the very task of survival can be more than full-time job.

With a visiting reporter, Singh relaxed in the combined living and sleeping room of his dirt-floored house, poured tea from a cracked china teapot and described his daily life between puffs on a hookah containing home-grown tobacco.

The only furniture besides three charpays (beds of rope stretched across a wooden frame) was a big zinc tank that ran from floor to ceiling across about one-third of the room.

Singh explained that the tank was where he stored his grain. "It's the only place I can trust it," he said in Hindi.

Each morning, Singh said, he arises at about four, takes his draft bullocks and hikes the mile and a half to his field—barefoot and on an empty stomach. He owns a pair of rubber slippers but rarely wears them because they say they make him feel uncomfortable. His waking time is an educated guess because Singh does not own a clock.

At about 8 a.m., one of Singh's daughters brings his breakfast of two or three chapatis, thin unleavened pancakes of wheat. A vegetarian, Singh trudges back home at about 1 p.m. for his daily bath and lunch of vegetables, a thick soup of beans called dahl and a jug of milk from the family cow.

medicine that is unavailable in Mondola, which has no doctor. He also allows himself an occasional luxury of a package of store-bought cigarettes in New Delhi. "I am a little scared because there's so much traffic and people there," he says, "but still I go."

Singh's efforts on his farm produce about 24,000 pounds of wheat and other crops each year, a yield which he says has increased by 50 per cent in the past 10 years because of improved seed and irrigation.

The major part of the crop goes to feed the family, Singh's nine animals which live in a courtyard adjoining the house and kitchen, and his hired labor. The remainder is sold.

After wages to his hired help and taxes of about 500 rupees ($66), Singh says he averages about 2,000 rupees ($266) in income each year, most of which he says goes for necessities. If he has cash savings, he is not about to admit it in the presence of strangers.

Singh has no surviving son, considered a bad omen in much of Asia. But he has six daughters and 17 grandchildren, which gives an idea of why India now accounts for one-seventh of the world's total population.

The farmer has "adopted" the eldest son of his eldest daughter and is putting the boy through a government high school at what he regards as prohibitive cost of eight rupees ($1.08) a month. The boy is part of about 30 per cent of India's population that knows how to read and write.

Like most people of peasant stock, Singh does not think much about happenings in the world outside his village and is distrustful of politicians, saying they only come to Mondola when they need votes. But he voted for the party of Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi and contributed to her lopsided majority in last spring's parliamentary elections after she made a brief visit to the village.

Lord Finds New Home

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It seems that Jack Lord, star of CBS's "Hawaii Five-O" series, has found a new home.
"It will be my home until I die," Lord said of Hawaii. "It's the gentle people, the climate, the scenery—I've found my place."
Lord was in Hollywood for a recent weekend visit to make promotional tapes for the series, which moved into its fourth season.
Lord plays McGarrett, chief of a fictitious Hawaiian police investigative unit.
"Hawaii Five-O" is a well-produced, fast-moving police story—noting extraordinary in the plots, but since it is shot on location all over the colorful islands, it has a validity and color more exciting than is encountered in the usual shows shot on studio backlots and against the overused Los Angeles backgrounds.

ON THE WEIGHTING LIST
Alan Sues of NBC-TV's "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" tells about the doctor who advised his overweight patient, "You may eat anything you like. Here's a list of what you're going to like."

ANGRY MAN — Zoey Hall and Dina Merrill star in "Angry Man," a doctors episode of NBC's "The Bold Ones," to be colorcast 9-10 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 3 on Channel 20. In the drama, a young paramedic, being trained at Craig Institute, and a wealthy patient are attracted to each other, but for different reasons.

FOR BOYS ONLY IS FOR GIRLS, TOO

"For Boys Only Is for Girls, Too," a Russian-made film, dubbed in English, about a young girl's determination to prove she's as capable as any boy when it comes to playing soccer, will be presented on "The CBS Children's Film Festival" Saturday, Oct. 9, (noon to 1 p.m.) on the CBS Television Network.

GWYNNE, BOSCO STAR IN THE SIEGE OF THE ALAMO

Fred Gwynne and Philip Bosco star as Davy Crockett and Sam Houston, respectively, in "The Siege of the Alamo," to be broadcast on "You Are There" Saturday, Oct. 9, (11:30 a.m. to noon) on the CBS Television Network. CBS News Correspondent Walter Cronkite is anchor man.

The date is March 5, 1836, the day before the Alamo fell. "You Are There" revisits the famed mission in the Mexican province of Texas, where a small group of rebellious men who called themselves Texans were attempting to hold out against a vast Mexican attack.

UNSCHEDULED RIDE

Ricardo Montalban took an unscheduled ride on a San Francisco cable car during the location filming of "The Face of Fear," to be seen on "The New CBS Friday Night Movies" Friday, Oct. 8, (8:30-10 p.m.) on the CBS Television Network. One scene called for Montalban, playing the role of a detective, to jump from a cable car in pursuit of a terrified woman (Elizabeth Ashley). The camera crew was staked out near the specified car stop to record the action—but Montalban never appeared. He had taken the wrong car, going in the opposite direction. It took a couple of extra round trips to get the scene on film, but Montalban wasn't complaining. "It was the only chance I had to do a little sight-seeing," he said.

Milburn Stone Back At Work On "Gunsmoke"

Milburn Stone, who plays the role of Doc Adams on "Gunsmoke," has returned to work in the long-running Western series on the CBS Television Network following his convalescence from open-heart surgery after suffering his third heart attack in less than three years.

The 67-year-old actor underwent surgery at the University of Alabama Medical Center in Birmingham last April. He returned to his home in California's San Fernando Valley some weeks after the operation and completed his recuperation by taking strength-building walks, doing push-ups and riding a stationary bicycle, all under doctors' orders.

During Stone's absence from "Gunsmoke," stage and screen star Pat Hingle filled in for him in the role of Dr. John Chapman. Hingle will appear in six episodes of the series, starting with the segment to be broadcast Monday, Oct. 11.

Stone, who has played the role of Doc since "Gunsmoke" came to television 16 years ago, summed up his feelings about returning to it simply and sincerely: "I'm just delighted to be back at work, and I feel fine."

This season "Gunsmoke" is presented in a new time period on Monday nights, 7-8 p.m.

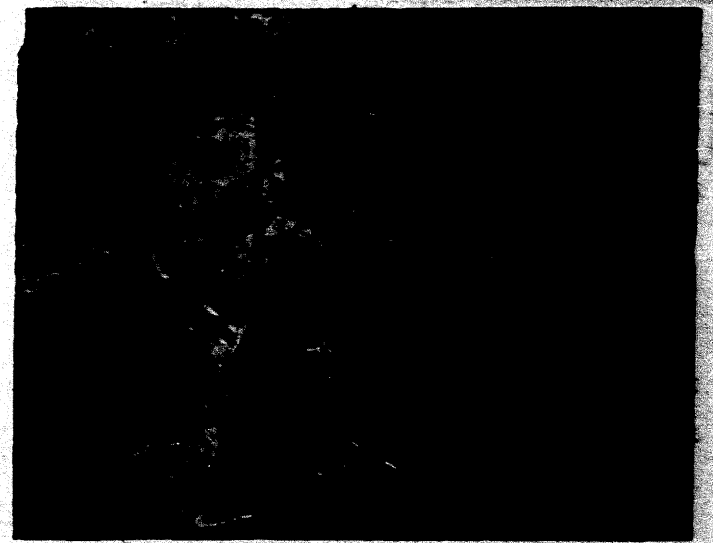

GEOGRAPHIC SPECIAL EXPLORES WORLD OF PRIMATES

The complex and relatively untapped natural world of the lower primates and the keys it holds to some characteristics and behavioral patterns of the highest primate — man — will be explored on the season's first new National Geographic Society special, "Monkeys, Apes, and Man," to be broadcast Tuesday, Oct. 12, (6:30-7:30 p.m.) on the CBS Television Network.

"Monkeys, Apes, and Man," which launches the series' seventh season on the network, delves into the study of the primate in its natural habitats from Japan to Africa. It demonstrates, through the observation of such creatures as gorillas, startlingly human-looking chimpanzees, baboons and other monkey species, the parallels between the non-human and human in areas such as mother-love, child-play and communication.

BUSHWHACKED — Joe Cartwright (series star Michael Landon) bears visible signs of the rough going he encounters in "Bushwhacked," the Sunday, Oct. 3, colorcast of NBC's "Bonanza" 8-9 p.m. on Channel 20.

EARNs POW's SCORN — Col. Joseph Ryan (Frank Sinatra) is an American airman who earns the scorn of his fellow POWs — including the British Maj. Eric Fincham (Trevor Howard) — in "Van Ryan's Express" on ABC's Sunday Night Movie 8-10 p.m. Oct. 3.

JAMES GARNER stars in the title role of "Nichols," on NBC's new comedy series, "Nichols," to be colorcast Thursday 8-9 p.m. on Channel 20. Margot Kidder is a regular cast member in the role of Ruth, the local barmaid. In the series, set just after the turn of the century, Nichols is the sheriff of the town founded by his family.

Lahey, Corbett Plan Succession Strategy In General Assembly

By JOHN B. MARTIN

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's veto Monday of legislation providing for filling vacant seats in the General Assembly may have caught two prominent Democrats in the position of "watching the train leave the station with nobody aboard."

Ogilvie's veto was based on what he described as "The approach taken... gives no consideration to the rights of independent candidates or the interests of voters supporting such candidates." He said that factor, plus others, raised questions about the bill's constitutional validity under the equal protection clause.

The entire question was raised because of the death of Sen. William Lyons, D-Gillespie. Since the Senate, before Lyons' death, was evenly balanced with 29 Democrats and 29 Republicans, the count at the start of the fall session will be 29-28 in favor of the Republicans.

Had Ogilvie signed the proposed legislation, the method of filling vacant seats would have been, in the case of Sen. Lyons' death, for the Democrat county chairmen to select a person to fill the vacancy, or vice-versa in the event he had been a Republican.

'Petty' Thieves Include Church in Robberies

JERSEYVILLE — Several petty robberies reported to the city police the past few days include one at the Assembly of God church.

Rev. Thurman Strange, pastor, reported Thursday that the church had been entered during the night and $69.01 in cash and checks were taken from a desk drawer in his office. Rev. Strange said the northeast door of the building was opened, and he later discovered the money bag was missing. The bag contained $55.51 in cash and $13.50 in checks. The checks had the church endorsement on them.

Theft of three wallets at the junior and senior high schools in Jerseyville have been reported to the city police. The wallets reported missing at the high school belong to Rick Ridenour and Bill Robinson and were reported taken from lockers during football practice. Ridenour reported his wallet contained his driver's license, Social Security card and his school identification.

Mrs. Doris Pickrel of Fieldon reported that her son, Everett Needs, had his wallet taken while he was in gym class at the Illinois Junior High School. His Elgin Sportsman wrist watch with wide leather band was also taken. The billfold was recovered later but a dollar in change was missing.

State Representative Jerry Corbett (D-Hardin) announced more than a month ago that he was seeking the appointment to the state's upper house, thus restoring the balanced Senate chamber in which Lt. Gov. Paul Simon could tilt in favor of Democrats.

Lahey Waiting
Right behind Corbett on the railroad platform would be Mayor Dan F. Lahey, who is also serving as Democrat County Chairman. He was reportedly "in favor" among his county chairman colleagues to move into the proposed vacancy which would have been created by Corbett's appointment to the Senate.

Corbett has since declared himself as a candidate for the senate seat in the new district. Lahey has refused to either confirm or deny: 1—that he has ever considered the idea of moving into Corbett's spot; 2—that he will, in fact, become a candidate for the spot anyway. But the "broad smile" left little doubt that the thought had entered his mind.

The new district includes Morgan, Scott, Pike, Calhoun, Greene, Jersey, of the old district, plus all of Macoupin and a small part of Madison county and the southern few precincts in Adams county. Quincy is not in the new district, thus eliminating Rep. Elmo McClain from the competition.

The incumbents in the new district are Junie Bartoulas (R-Bend) and Thomas C. Rose (R-Jacksonville), Kenneth Boyle (D-Carlville) and Jerry Corbett (D-Hardin).

Should Lahey receive the appointment under terms of new legislation scheduled for passage in October, it would not be absolutely necessary for him to resign as Mayor of Jacksonville. At least one other member of the General Assembly is the mayor of his hometown. If he should run for the seat, he would not be required to resign from the mayor's office at all, perhaps; and if so, not until after being sworn into office in the General Assembly. Of course, this assumes that he would be successful in the campaign.

Also in the picture for Corbett's seat "if the right conditions were forthcoming" is former State Rep. Carl Witmond of Brussels. Witmond has wide based support from both Democrats and a number of independent voters throughout his old district as well as on at least "even footing" with such contenders as Mayor Lahey or most any other Democrat from the area.

Although Corbett has been accused of conflict of interest charges arising from the sale of automobiles from his Ford Agency in Hardin to the late Paul Powell and a land deal with the state in which he designated a St. Louis charity to benefit by an amount considered to be the "commission," it appears he will weather the storm as well as many of his legislative colleagues.

If Corbett continues his campaign for the senate seat in the new district, he will be joined by one of the most effective campaign workers one could hope for—his wife, Mrs. Corbett probably contributed as much support to the overall Corbett campaign as he did himself. She is attractive, personable, active in a number of civic and charitable organizations and is a most effective speaker. She covered many of the campaign bases in person while the candidate appeared elsewhere and, when her speech ended, was never considered "second-string substitute."

'SNIFFERS' BEFORE JUDGE OCT. 7TH

JERSEYVILLE — The trial of four young men arrested in Lions City Park for "sniffing" a fluid in a plastic bag has been set for October 7. They were arraigned in the court of Judge Harvey Bean on charges of illegal use of intoxicating compound, namely paint thinner, known as toluol. They entered pleas of not guilty and asked the court to appoint legal counsel for them. Atty. Norbert Goetten was named by the court and trial date set. Bonds in the sum of $1,000 were set for Kevin Hughes, 19, of Grafton and William Kallal, 20, and Albert Stamper, 18, both of Jerseyville. A $2,000 bond was set for the 17-year-old. All were remanded to the custody of the Jersey county sheriff.

United Fund Pledges Hit $50,000 Mark

Pledges to the United Fund have now reached $50,000, which is about 36 percent of the goal of $137,350. The second report meeting on Tuesday brought in about $9,000.

Co-chairman Weldon Fogal said, "We have had some excellent reports from people who have been working and are especially pleased that many people throughout the county are responding to our plea to increase their gifts this year. There are about 525 sets of supplies in the hands of our workers. If these people will make their calls, we will have good prospects of meeting our goal."

The other co-chairman, Vern Fernandes, commended the many firms, businesses, and industries who have reached or who are within reach of their goals. He said, "It appears to us that more businesses are giving their employees an opportunity to contribute than ever before. We believe there is a new seriousness in the community about their United Fund. We hope all will respond to it."

The next report meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 5, from 4 to 5 p.m. in the Public Library board room. Workers need not wait until Tuesday but may turn in their reports at the campaign headquarters, Room 703, Farmers Bank Building, between 8:30 a.m. and noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, according to Jewell Mann, executive director.

Walker Asks Return Of Race Stock Profits

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Dan Walker, a Democratic gubernatorial hopeful, says any public official who collected large profits from race track stock transactions should be forced to surrender the profits from race track stock transactions should be forced to surrender the profits to the state.

Walker said Friday he has written Atty. Gen. William J. Scott, a Republican, asking that a suit be brought against past and present officeholders involved with the stock to collect the profits.

"If the attorney general fails to act, then I will seek to recover those profits for the state," Walker said at a news conference. He estimated that more than $2 million is involved.

Walker, an independent, was in Rock Island on a stopover of his campaign walk through Illinois.

Chicago Today and the Chicago Daily News reported Friday Robert D. McCloskey of Monmouth, former congressman and legislator, had bought 3,000 shares of Washington Park Trotting Association stock in 1963 for $1 a share and sold it in 1964 for $3 a share. The papers said McCloskey acknowledged he did not report or pay income tax on the $6,000 profit.

McCloskey was quoted as saying he bought the stock through Clyde Lee, Mount Vernon Democrat, then a member of the state legislature. McCloskey was quoted by Chicago Today as saying he learned later that his stock was held under a voting trust certificate controlled by William J. Lynch, former law partner of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, now a U.S. District Court judge.

McCloskey had quit the legislature and was a U.S. Representative at the time he bought the stock through Lee, the paper said. Lee later left the General Assembly to become manager of the Egyptian Trotting Association.

Three Injured In Collision At Winchester

Three persons were injured in a three-vehicle accident about 10:20 a.m. Friday on Route 106 at the bridge over Big Sandy Creek southeast of Winchester.

State police said the three vehicles were headed toward Winchester on Route 106. A State of Illinois mower driven by Bernard Vannier, 49, of Bluffs, followed by a state dump truck driven by James H. "Gregory" Burt, 59, of Route 1, Winchester, and a tractor-trailer unit driven by Delbert G. Hatcher, 41, of Alsey.

Hatcher collided with the dump truck on the bridge, pushing it into the mow.

Hatcher was treated at a doctor's office in Winchester while both Burt and Vannier were treated and released at Passavant hospital in Jacksonville. They were taken to the hospital by Cunningham ambulance.

Investigating troopers said the vehicles were demolished in the crash.

Published reports have named Lynch as the "nominee" in the race track stock dealings of the late Secretary of State Paul Powell; Rep. Clyde Choate; D-Anna; Powell's Republican successor, John Lewis; Rep. William Murphy, R-Antioch; and George Dunne, president of the Cook County Board.

Walker said he believed "it can be established that if these men had not been public officials, they would not have gotten the stock and could not have amassed those profits. In other words, they were profiting from their public positions. That profit belongs to the public," he said.

Bingo Supply Dealer Contract Voided By State

CHICAGO (AP) — The state license for the first authorized dealer of bingo supplies was cancelled Friday only 15 hours after bingo became legalized in Illinois.

State Revenue Director George E. Mahin said the cancellation of Gore-Kaye Supply Co.'s license was based on discovery of illegal gambling equipment, including $4.5 million worth of Puerto Rico lottery tickets, in the company's warehouse.

Lt. Michael O'Donnell led the midnight raid Thursday night after police arrested Gabriel Valentin, 44, as he left the warehouse carrying $50,000 worth of tickets.

Bingo became legal in Illinois at midnight Thursday. O'Donnell said raiders seized lottery tickets, roulette wheels, blackjack tables and other gambling devices. They could not confiscate bingo supplies, he said, because these had just become legal.

Company owners Clarence Gore, 60, and Stanley Kaye, 54, along with Valentin were charged with syndicated gambling. A warehouse clerk, Chester Malecki, was charged with writing illegal horse race bets.

Mahin said the revocation was based on the violation of a section of the Bingo License and Tax Act which stipulates that any person who is or has been a professional gambler or gambling promoter is ineligible to hold a license.
